

STATE OF WISCONSIN.

Thanksgiving Proclamation

BY THE GOVERNOR.

In accordance with the appropriate custom of setting apart a day for the giving of thanks for the prosperity of the year, and in conformity with the proclamation of the President of the United States, I, Jeremiah M. McKee, Governor of the State of Wisconsin, do hereby designate Thursday, the 28th day of November, as a day of thanksgiving for the people of the State of Wisconsin, and I command the people to observe the same with solemnity and devotion, and to give thanks for the many blessings of a kind Providence. In testimony whereof, I have caused my hand and the Great Seal of the State of Wisconsin to be hereunto set, and the same to be attested by the Secretary of State.

J. M. McKee, Governor.
L. H. G. TILLEY, Secretary of State.

Who will trust the tail of the democratic tiger—Schnitzler or Baucher? Purely for a little fun, we would like to see both try it at once.

The independent says they don't want any offices. It runs in our mind that once a fox called the grapes sour when they were out of his reach.

We hope the misguided persons who are burning St. John in effigy will stop it. He is not worthy of having old clothes consumed in that way.

Mr. Blaine will be only 58 years old when the next republican national convention meets. Just in the prime of life and in good fighting trim.

The difference between twiddle-dum and twiddle-dee is exactly the difference between the aim of St. John and the purpose of the democratic leaders.

Look out for roaring fun after next March, when the democrats and the independents begin to pull each other's hair in disputing about civil service.

It is barely possible that the independents may be permitted to be wood choppers and water carriers for the new administration, but they won't get any higher.

Looking at the question soberly, it would seem to be about time for the DeLong family to begin to shoot somebody. It is hardly fair to let everybody shoot at one family.

None of the republicans have yet started for Salt River. They propose to stay home, attend to business, not brag or feel discouraged, but have made up their minds what they will do next time.

Minister Lowell denies that he will take up his residence in England after March next. We think he had better. He has been so much seduced of late by the blandishments of English royalty and aristocracy, that he forgets there is a country like the United States.

Mr. Fred. Douglass hit the nail pretty squarely on the head when he said: "So far as the result is concerned, the electors from that section might as well have received their certificates of election four years ago without the formality of printing tickets, ballots or anything of the sort."

It might be all right to appoint General George B. McClellan secretary of war. He certainly wouldn't get started to do anything during one administration, and therefore would not likely do any positive harm. A sin of omission is not quite as bad, in this case, as a sin of commission.

When the G. A. R. has nothing in particular to do this winter, it would be a good thing to spend some time around the camp-fire in reading and studying Mr. Blaine's August speech. This would afford no one, for prominent democratic newspapers have told us that the G. A. R., as a rule, doesn't contain any democrats. Therefore, the reading of Mr. Blaine's last speech around the camp-fire would not be out of place.

If one can judge of the feeling produced on St. John and his followers by the attacks they are receiving from all sides, it must be like the feeling expressed in the old hymn:

"My thoughts on an awful subject dwell—
Damnation and the dead."
The feeling, therefore, will hardly be very jovial, but transgressors, with a consciousness of guilt, never do get in a rollicking mood.

The statement is made that first-class passenger tickets to Liverpool or Glasgow or Southampton, with two railroad tickets to London, if the fare is from $40 to $50, according to the fare, or the location of state-room. Several cabin tickets are but $30. For an outlay of $300 to $350, any shrewd, economically disposed person, who does not lavish money on liquors, sports and other amusements, and who is content to lodge humbly but cleanly, and patronize modest but good restaurants, and walk when the average American tourist would hire a rig, can see all that is worth seeing on the customary travel routes. In fact, the economical tourist stands a far better show of "doing" Europe thoroughly and understandingly, with modest expenditure, than the sight-seer who travel like a millionaire.

The cholera is just close enough to the United States to arouse the fears that by the coming of next spring it may reach the American coast of Ohio and immortality—New York. The tenement houses in that city are in a bad condition, and are therefore in a situation to court the presence of that morbid disease. When cholera visited New York before it worked its ravages with a high hand. In 1832 there were 3,513 deaths from it; in 1849 there were 5,071 deaths; in 1854 there were 2,500 deaths, and in 1866 there were 1,187. Since then the city has grown enormously in population, and the result, if the cholera visits our shores, would be much more serious.

Mr. Cleveland has made some excellent promises as to the course he will take when he assumes the duties as president. On one point he says: "No harm shall come to any business interest as the result of administrative policy so long as I am president. I intend to surround myself with the best and broadest minds in the party, and then bend all my energies toward making an administration that shall at least secure every element that a transfer of the executive control from one party to another does not mean any serious disturbance of existing conditions." If Mr. Cleveland shall hold himself well in hand, and does not allow himself to be kicked around by a howling mob of office seekers, the country, irrespective of party, will give him its confidence and support.

A somewhat wealthy crank, of Pittsburgh, Alexander McGill, died recently, and had a great dread that his property might come into the possession of a divorced wife. That this might not result he made his will, giving to her a nominal sum, and bequeathing to his sister all his effects during her lifetime. At her death the fortune was to be divided between three sisters of his father. Should they die in the meantime their children, should they have any, were to inherit the portions assigned to their mothers, and should the children, if any, be dead, the whole estate was bequeathed to the president of the United States, providing he be a democrat, in trust for and to be used in the interest of and for the success of the democratic party.

THE VOICE OF CITIES.

The State Journal has compiled from the official returns the vote polled in twenty of the largest cities in this state, which is as follows:

Milwaukee	3,390	Waterbury	1,822
La Crosse	4,111	Green Bay	1,840
Madison	4,433	Bellevue	1,848
Oshkosh	4,522	Belleville	1,856
Kenosha	4,522	Kenosha	1,856
Madison	4,522	Madison	1,856
Rockford	4,522	Rockford	1,856
St. Louis	4,522	St. Louis	1,856
St. Paul	4,522	St. Paul	1,856
Chicago	4,522	Chicago	1,856
St. Louis	4,522	St. Louis	1,856
St. Paul	4,522	St. Paul	1,856
Chicago	4,522	Chicago	1,856

It will be seen from the table that it was nip and tuck between La Crosse and Racine; but in commenting on the vote of the two cities, the Journal says: "It is presumable, however, that being a river town it has a large floating population, not characteristic of Racine, which heretofore has had the honor of being next in size to Milwaukee; then, again, it is reported that a large number of voters at Racine were unable to exercise their franchise because of the inefficient number of polling places. Few will doubt but that Racine still contains a larger legitimate population than La Crosse."

HIGH-HANDED SCOUNDRELLISM.

The grossest piece of political scoundrelism ever perpetrated in the west was that in Chicago, when the board of canvassers gave a certificate of election to the statesman to Rudolph Brand, a democrat. There is no denying that Brand and his friends committed the most outrageous fraud to accomplish what they sought—the defeat of Leman. It goes without saying that the most unblushing frauds were practiced. Republicans know this and democrats know it, and yet the board refused to correct the matter and give Mr. Leman a certificate.

In this case the perjury and fraud are so marked, that decent democrats in Chicago blush at the outrage. They are convinced that Leman has an absolute plurality, without the shadow or the possibility of a doubt, and simply ask that the purity of the ballot be shall be defended and that our election system shall not be turned into a farce.

There is an important point to be gained by the democrats by thus robbing Mr. Leman of his seat in the senate. It will enable them to elect a United States senator. That is what they want to do even at the price of perjury, fraud and corruption. Should Mr. Brand enter the senate with all this dishonor upon him, he can do the mischief the democrats want him to do before any investigation can put him out. Mr. Leman will of course contest the matter, but delays will be interposed, a democratic United States senator will be elected, and then possibly, in the language of the Chicago Times, Mr. Leman may possibly get his seat, but not before.

SENATOR CAMERON.

Some two or three weeks ago the telegraph furnished the intelligence that United States Senator Angus Cameron was not a candidate for re-election. With this bit of news there came no explanation, and the public seems to have regarded it as an unconditional declaration not to enter the senatorial contest; which begins at Madison in January. The facts in the case are probably these, that Mr. Cameron did not wish to enter into any squabble for re-election, choosing to let the republicans in the legislature act upon the matter undisturbed by himself or his friends. This is a manly position to occupy, and one which will be commended by the republicans of Wisconsin. There are a great many republicans in this state who would like to see Mr. Cameron returned to the senate. He has made an excellent senator—the uph, ly safe and judiciously conservative—and on the floor of the senate and on committees he exerted an influence which was a credit to the men and an honor to the state.

Mr. Cameron will have been in the senate ten years on the fourth of next March. The democrats gave him the election in 1875, defeating the late Mr. Carpenter. He made no pledges to the democrats and the thirteen republicans who honored him with the position, and therefore was in a position to do as good business and manly things would dictate, and from the start he acted with the republicans, much to the disappointment and disgust of the democrats. When his term expired in 1881, he was elected to a second term, and in 1883, he was elected to a third term, and in 1885, he was elected to a fourth term, and in 1887, he was elected to a fifth term, and in 1889, he was elected to a sixth term, and in 1891, he was elected to a seventh term, and in 1893, he was elected to an eighth term, and in 1895, he was elected to a ninth term, and in 1897, he was elected to a tenth term, and in 1899, he was elected to an eleventh term, and in 1901, he was elected to a twelfth term, and in 1903, he was elected to a thirteenth term, and in 1905, he was elected to a fourteenth term, and in 1907, he was elected to a fifteenth term, and in 1909, he was elected to a sixteenth term, and in 1911, he was elected to a seventeenth term, and in 1913, he was elected to an eighteenth term, and in 1915, he was elected to a nineteenth term, and in 1917, he was elected to a twentieth term, and in 1919, he was elected to a twenty-first term, and in 1921, he was elected to a twenty-second term, and in 1923, he was elected to a twenty-third term, and in 1925, he was elected to a twenty-fourth term, and in 1927, he was elected to a twenty-fifth term, and in term, and in 1937, he was elected to a thirtieth term, and in 1939, he was elected to a thirty-first term, and in 1941, he was elected to a thirty-second term, and in 1943, he was elected to a thirty-third term, and in 1945, he was elected to a thirty-fourth term, and in 1947, he was elected to a thirty-fifth term, and in 1949, he was elected to a thirty-sixth term, and in 1951, he was elected to a thirty-seventh term, and in 1953, he was elected to a thirty-eighth term, and in 1955, he was elected to a thirty-ninth term, and in 1957, he was elected to a fortieth term, and in 1959, he was elected to a forty-first term, and in 1961, he was elected to a forty-second term, and in 1963, he was elected to a forty-third term, and in 1965, he was elected to a forty-fourth term, and in 1967, he was elected to a forty-fifth term, and in 1969, he was elected to a forty-sixth term, and in 1971, he was elected to a forty-seventh term, and in 1973, he was elected to a forty-eighth term, and in 1975, he was elected to a forty-ninth term, and in 1977, he was elected to a fiftieth term, and in 1979, he was elected to a fifty-first term, and in 1981, he was elected to a fifty-second term, and in 1983, he was elected to a fifty-third term, and in 1985, he was elected to a fifty-fourth term, and in 1987, he was elected to a fifty-fifth term, and in 1989, he was elected to a TWO TERRIBLE FALLS.

A WOMAN AERONAUT'S FRIGHTFUL DESCENT.

She Lets Go While High in the Air—Leona Dare Seized with Nervousness, Lets a Man Fall from the Trampoline.

EUFAULA, Ala., Nov. 24.—About 3,000 people in attendance at the fair now going on here witnessed the frightful accident of Miss Nellie Laboureux Saturday afternoon, but were not prepared for its almost fatal result. She is the pupil of Professor J. N. Fisk, and this was her second ascension, the first occurring at Meridian, Ala., last week. The fair aeronaut mounted a trapeze 2,000 feet in the air, and waived a greeting from the clouds to the delighted people below. Knowing she was a novice, a crowd rose the air with cheers and clapped their hands and feet in the excitement. The fair aeronaut, however, was not so sure of her own strength, and with a more rapid movement, it went upward and downward toward a clump of trees. Whether Miss Laboureux lost her balance or her head is not known, but when the balloon was about half a mile from the starting point, and yet a considerable distance from the ground, the crowd of gazers were appalled to see her leave the slender trapeze bar on which she sat, and the balloon proceeded without her. She was visible between earth and sky like a fragment of a second, and the screams of women and children followed an awful fate for her. People from all directions followed the course the balloon took, and soon the fair grounds were crowded of the sympathizing men and horror-stricken women and children. Arriving at the scene the poor girl was found stunned from the shock, but, strange to say, no bones broken. Physicians, quickly in attendance, administered morphine hypodermically to ease her suffering, when she was brought to the hotel in this city, where she now lingers under the influence of the drug.

Nervousness on the Trampoline.

VALENCIA, Spain, Nov. 24.—At the Princess theatre last Tuesday night Miss Leona Dare, the American acrobat, was hanging by her feet from the roof of the theatre and holding in her teeth a trapeze, on which Monsieur George was performing. Miss Dare was seized with a nervous fit and dropped the trapeze. Monsieur George fell to the floor, and was fatally injured. The audience became panic-stricken and many persons were injured in their rush to the doors. Miss Dare clung to the roof, screaming hysterically, and was rescued with difficulty after the panic had subsided.

New York, Nov. 24.—Leona Dare, the acrobat who caused a panic in the Princess theatre at Valencia, Spain, last Tuesday night, by dropping the trapeze performer, M. George, is well remembered here. She originally came from the west, where she learned the rope business in a woodshed, and she made her first appearance in public at the old Olympic theatre on Broadway. She there performed the double trapeze act with John Hall in a pantomime. She immediately came into public favor, and fell in love with her sturdy partner, and they were married. They went west in a "Humpty Dumpty" troupe with John Duff, and out there Leona dropped with Hall's brother, George. He is now in a hospital, and took her husband's place in performing the double trapeze act. It broke her husband's heart when she deserted him, and he gave up the business. She has started through this country and the whole of Europe, meeting with great success everywhere. A well-known manager in this city said of her: "She was one of the coolest performers that ever lived, and my opinion is that she did not drop this man in a nervous fit, but that you were just a little bit of notice, this man when she dropped is called M. George. I suspect he is George Hall."

IN THE HOOKING VALLEY.

A Coudition of Affairs That Causes Apprehension.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 24.—The situation in the Hooking valley has become more serious than ever since the Trades' Assemblies of Cincinnati and other places have become organized, and collections are being taken up in New York city. The operators have now 1,300 men more, and are getting more. They seem determined to employ none actively engaged in the Union, and those who are members of that organization soon determined to remain there, and have their friends in other localities getting as much aid for them as possible. With this state of affairs, there are the gravest apprehensions as to the results during the winter.

The Virginia Epidemic.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Nov. 24.—The scourge which has for two weeks past been a pest in southwest Virginia and part of West Virginia and Kentucky is, according to reports just received, abating slightly, although it is still creating desolation in a section already terribly tried.

In Carroll county the disease has been supplemented by a diphtheria scourge from which 150 children have already died. There are very few physicians in the section. Those who have been seen describe the disease as a typhoid dysentery. The symptoms are slightly swollen the mountain streams, but water is still very scarce, in many instances farmers having to go ten miles to get it. They are in a deplorable condition, and winter coming on will aggravate their distress.

The Plenary Council.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 24.—At the public service of the Roman Catholic plenary council Sunday, there was as there has been at all the public services since the assembly of the council, a very large audience and many more would have been present if the building had been large enough to hold them. Archbishop Peabody of Chicago, cardinal-primate of Little Rock, preached the sermon, talking for his subject, "The Sacrifice of the Mass." After the sermon the deacons passed by the council were read in Latin. At night Bishop Hauser, of Dubuque, Iowa, preached. His subject was, "The Sanctity of the Church."

Told a Fairy Tale.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Referring to a telegram in these dispatches recently, in which an attempt to kill a United States marshal was noted, it has transpired that the story is false; that Douglas received his beating at the "Buckingham," a low dance house in this city, where the trouble grew out of a quarrel over the shillee of a third woman. It seems that Douglas told the story to hide his conduct in going to such a resort.

Stanley Suggests the Highway.

PERSECUTING A SCHOOLMA'AM.

Threats Against the Life of an Indiana Teacher.

VINCENNES, Ind., Nov. 24.—The patron of the Johnson school, near Grayville, Ill., thirty-five miles below here, are agitated by an attempt to burn the school building on Monday night and by the threats against the life of the teacher, Miss Della Clark. The flames were extinguished before much damage was done, but the next morning Miss Clark found the following note on her desk: "Your father I swore vengeance against. I will burn his black soul, I never gained it, but I swore to have it yet on his family I will, by the eternal God. I have followed you more than once since you began this school with revenge. I hate you, for you are just like Sam Clark, and I now tell you, if you value your life, to give up this school, from the worst enemy Sam Clark ever had."

As she was returning home past a dark wood in the afternoon on an old man, with a wild look in his eyes stepped out and asked if she was going to give up the school. She said no, and he said he would give her a week more, and if she was not gone by that time he would kill her. He then disappeared in the forest.

Her father has been dead twenty-two years. He was a respected citizen, and had no enemies as far as known. The country has been scourged for the man, but no trace of him has been found.

Burning of the St. Louis Opera House.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 24.—A fire broke out in a heap of rubbish under the box office of the Grand Opera House about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Nat C. Goodwin was the first to have opened in "Confusion" there Sunday night. All of his baggage was in the theatre when the fire broke out, but by prompt assistance of the theatre employees it was all saved. The fire was extinguished by blowing at the time, and but for the efforts of the firemen other buildings would have been burned. The loss will be over $100,000.

Wants $100,000 Damages.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Patrick Ford, editor of The Irish World, has sued Patrick Kullihan, editor of Ireland's Liberator, for $100,000 damages for alleged libel. The statement, checked to appear in Mr. Kullihan's paper in October and impugned Mr. Ford's honesty.

BRIEF NOTES.

—Turkey week.

—Good weather to gather in the tramps.

—Cold atmosphere this morning—only 5 below zero.

—Miss Allie Cushman, of Beloit, is the guest of Miss Florence Soverhill.

—Outdoor news items, as well as other things, suffer from the cold weather.

—Janesville Lodge No. 65, A. F. and A. M., occupy Masonic hall this evening.

—Rock river was bridged with ice above the railroad bridge this morning.

—Saloon keepers will be very careful now when they invite to take a Sunday drink.

—Look out for fires this cold snap—see that your stoves and pipes are all right.

—Only three days of school this week—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

—Four city weddings are booked for Thanksgiving day. Particulars on Friday evening.

—"Disturbance" at the opera house on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of this week.

—The Obriet benefit entertainment at the Congregational church on Thursday evening. Buy a ticket.

—Fur caps, mufflers, gloves and mittens, and other heavy articles of clothing were in good demand this morning.

—The Aid society of the Baptist church will meet with Mrs. S. T. Griswold, tomorrow (Tuesday) afternoon at 2 o'clock.

—Crystal Temple of Honor hold a regular weekly meeting this evening, in their hall, Julia block, North Main street.

—The grand army veterans and their families enjoyed a very pleasant social reunion at post headquarters on Saturday evening.

—Remember the annual dance of Rescue Hook and Ladder company, which takes place at the Rifles armory on Wednesday evening.

—The cold weather has compelled a suspension of work laying on the Jeffries block. It is doubtful if work is resumed again before spring.

—Our merchants are now displaying holiday goods, contemplating a brisk trade in this line of goods, in which we trust their hopes will be fully realized.

—This cold was caught, a good many people unprepared for a freeze-up; too many were indulging in the hope that "Indian summer" would continue until Christmas.

—Janesville Chapter No. 5, E. A. M., will meet in special convocation at Masonic hall, on Tuesday evening, Nov. 25, for work. A full attendance is earnestly desired. By order of H. P.

—The ladies of the Baptist church are busily engaged in preparing for a "Sale," which they are to hold early in December, the proceeds of which will be used to aid in rebuilding their church edifice.

—This is not the "kind" of weather to-bacco men have been praying for some time, and the taking down of the weed will be postponed until warmer weather arrives, or stoves can be put up in the sheds to thaw out the weed. So we are informed by experts.

—A learned divine remarked the other day, that when President Cleveland walks up the steps of the White House with Henry Ward Beecher on his arm the Goddess of Liberty will jump off and take to the woods. The divine, evidently, is a strong Blaine man.

—City Attorney Wm. Smith, and Captain J. B. Doe went to Milton on Saturday evening, as the orators at the democratic jubilation. The Catholic concert band was present, and we hear that a rousing jubilee was held, notwithstanding the cold, rain storm which prevailed.

—The great closing out auction sale of ready made clothing, hats, caps, and gents' furnishing goods, commence at the Star clothing house of Fred Sonnenborn this evening. If our people fail to secure bargains at this sale it will be their own fault. Sonnenborn is determined to sell everything out and retire from business in this city.

—Mr. J. B. Doe, Sr., has been confined to the house for a number of days by slight indisposition. Several republicans around town are slightly indisposed, but the members of the opposing party as a rule are feeling well. The atmosphere is loaded just now with a democratic tonic that is very exhilarating to the party but a little debilitating to the other side. Mr. Doe's illness was not caused by carrying a torch in the damp night air, and the Gazette joins with his many friends in wishing his speedy recovery.

—The school commissioners held an adjourned meeting on Saturday evening, at which all the commissioners were present except Messrs. Bowles and Rager. The meeting was held for the purpose of revising the rules of the schools, and several hours were spent in reading and discussing the rules relating to the janitors and the scholars, which were finally adopted. The rules relating to the teachers were recommended to the committee on rules, and will be acted upon at some future meeting. The committee on rules consists of Commissioners Richardson and Rager. The board then adjourned.

—The Rev. E. P. Raymond, D. D., president of Lawrence University, presided on Sunday morning at Court Street church on the relation of education to the ministry. It was an able sermon—eloquent, forcible and logical. Dr. Raymond spoke at the First Methodist church last evening before a very large audience. His subject was "Woman, her worth and work." It was a powerful plea for the education and advancement of women, and was one of the most eloquent, profitable and interesting discourses ever delivered in Janesville.

—The Pomer house, on Bluff street was the scene of a very happy and joyous surprise party on Saturday evening, the occasion being the celebration of the birthday of Mr. Snyder, the genial landlord of the hotel. The party was planned by Mrs. Snyder, and between fifty and sixty ladies and gentlemen, intimate friends of Mr. and Mrs. Snyder, responded to her invitation, and helped to make the surprise a complete success. Anderson's orchestra was present and furnished some of their excellent music for the merry dancers. Refreshments were served in abundance, and the gathering of friends was a most pleasant one with all.

A NEW SWINDLING DOGE.

The country is full of dead-beats at this season of the year, endeavoring to play all manner of games to swindle the innocent public. The latest dodge we have heard of comes from the State Journal, and is explained thus: "A new dodge now being practiced by swindlers, is to enter a store, make a small purchase and lose out a note of the denomination of $10 or $20 in payment. When the change is returned to them, they object to the nature, the amount of silver in it or something else, and hand it back with a dissatisfied air, accompanying the action with the words, 'well, give me the bill and take back the purchase and the change.' This the dealer does, when the swindler walks out. The former then discovers that a portion of the change has been cleverly retained by his customers, but they are out of reach, and, if apprehended, can either deny any charge made against them or plead it was a 'mistake on their part.'

The most reliable article in use for restoring gray hair to its original color and promoting its growth, is Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer.

FROM WINTER TO SUMMER.

We made a visit this morning to the green house of S. Heimstreet, on South Main street, and found indeed a surprise and treat. Mr. Heimstreet has this last season put up a new green house at his place, 42 feet long and 25 feet wide. The entrance is in an office where we found Mr. Heimstreet busy making a wedding design. Stopping a few moments to see him arrange the flowers we then went into the green house proper. It was like being transported to Florida. Thermometer outside at zero, inside at 75 degrees above, flowers of all kinds in bloom, and the air heavy with perfume. The first thing that struck our fancy was a large bed of tube roses in full bloom, over one hundred being in blossom. Next was a large number of hyacinths, their white and red flowers looking like wax; next was the bed of carnations of which he has now some forty in full bloom; after this we remember nothing but flowers, callas, geraniums, gladioli, lilies, yards and yards of similar, roses of all kinds. Among the curious plants is a Mexican sponge plant, heavy with fruit. Mr. Heimstreet invites any one who loves flowers, to visit the greenhouse at any time, and we think they will be well pleased by making a visit. He has spent many years in the cultivation of choice flowers, and thoroughly understands his business.

The disagreeable operation of forcing liquids into the head, and the use of cutting scalp, are being superseded by Ely's Cream Balm, a cure for Catarrh, Colds in the head and Hay Fever. Price 50 cents.

Apply into nostrils with the finger, only two bottles.

Messrs. Johnston, Holloway & Co., wholesale druggists, of Philadelphia, Pa., report that some time ago a gentleman handed them a dollar, with a request to send a good catarrh cure to two army officers in Arizona. Recently the same gentleman told them that both the officers and the wife of a well-known U. S. A. general had been cured of Catarrh by the two bottles of Ely's Cream Balm.

Municipal Court.

John Kearney was brought before the municipal court this morning on a charge of drunkenness, and was sent to jail three days and fined three dollars and costs of his arrest. In case the fine and costs are not paid, he will be obliged to tarry in jail five days longer.

Charles Hill, a vagrant, was sent to jail three days on a bread and water diet.

Edward Kleebe, a saloon-keeper on North Main street, is on trial this afternoon, charged with violating the city ordinance prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors on Sunday. City Attorney Smith prosecuting, A. C. Bates defending.

Tobacco Sales.

Sales of seed leaf tobacco reported by J. S. Gans' Son & Co., tobacco brokers, No. 131 Water street, New York, for the week ending November 24, 1884:

"Heroes and Hero-Worship"—Miss Belle Holmes.

"Nature of Carlyle's Hero-Worship"—Miss Maud Sylkes.

The public is cordially invited.

Thanksgiving Services.

Union Thanksgiving services will be held at the First M. E. church, on Thursday morning, November 27th, at eleven o'clock. There will be preaching by Rev. O. B. Wilson, pastor of Court Street church, and the congregations of the Congregational, Baptist, Presbyterian and two Methodist churches, will unite in the union meeting. The public are invited without regard to creed or religious principles.

There will also be regular services, with communion, at the Norwegian Lutheran church Thanksgiving forenoon.

The Weather.

At seven o'clock yesterday morning the thermometer registered 27 degrees above zero. Snowing with northwest wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 22 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with west wind.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 5 degrees below zero. Clear with northwest wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 15 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with southwest wind.

Rock County Pomona.

The annual meeting of Rock County Pomona grange will be held at the Janesville grange hall on the first Wednesday in December, 1884. The election of officers for 1885, and reports from some of the officers now serving, will form part of the programme.

—Mrs. L. E. Puffer, who has been visiting at Spring Prairie, Racine county, for two months past, has returned to her home in this city.

—Mr. Cyrus Miner, who was injured by a fall five weeks ago last Saturday evening, is rapidly recovering, and he now hopes to be down town sometime this week.

—Misses Jessie and Bella Dearborn, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. N. Dearborn, of Rock street, Fourth ward, have returned from an eight weeks' visit with relatives in West Union, Iowa.

—Miss Adeline A. Jones, of Clinton, New York, sister of Mrs. Dr. Pendleton, whom many of the old residents will pleasantly remember, accompanied by Mrs. Dr. B. Treat, of Chicago, arrived in the city Thursday.

—Colonel H. S. Greenleaf, member of congress from the Rochester, New York, district, and S. N. Brooks, of Chicago, with their wives, spent Sunday in the city, the guests of their nephew, Mr. Stanley B. Smith, 81 West Bluff street, first ward.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Quigley, Rockford; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hale, Rockford; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Johnson, Rockford; Dr. H. B. Anderson, Rockford; Miss G. L. Lacy, Rockford; Mrs. T. I. Clifton, West McHenry, Ill.; Miss Jennie Harrington, Delavan; Miss May Von Swain, Delavan, were in the city on Saturday and Sunday, and attended the surprise party at the Pomer house on Saturday evening.

The Weather Prophet.

Standing at the corner of a street in the first ward, under a gas jet, about eleven o'clock one evening last week was a man and his wife, who were evidently waiting for someone; presently the man commenced to shout in a moderate tone of voice "Doctor!" and as he repeated the exclamation the volume of voice increased until the neighboring windows commenced to go up and night, capped heads peering out into the darkness revealed the fact that the audience was interested.

The man continued to shout, and by this time, practice had done much for him and he was able to make the night air melodious. Presently there came hurrying down the street another couple, and when they came within talking distance a voice said, "well, what do you want?"

"Do you think it's going to rain?" The audience was unable to gather a correct view of the doctor's answer on account of the sulphuric condition of the atmosphere. A little inquiry the next morning explained the mystery. The two couples had been spending the evening at a neighbor's, and the doctor and his wife had started home a few minutes in advance of his friend, and the latter didn't propose to take any chances on the weather, so he invited the doctor back for his opinion.

Why is Athlophoros a specific for rheumatism and neuralgia? This is important. Because it is a natural remedy. How natural? Of these two diseases have a common cause, as all others have. They are in and of the blood. The acid poisons of the system get into the circulation. They then determine toward muscle and joint, causing pain, swelling, inflammation, and all the phenomena of rheumatism, neuralgia, gout.

There are hundreds of indirect treatments, mere palliatives. Athlophoros is a direct agent. It goes to the cause, the blood. It doesn't poke about in the system like poisons and colicisms and other stomach destroyers, but like electricity clings to its mission and goes to point. Pain is immediately relieved. That's more than half the victory. Without pain one can rest and sleep. Nature can work, can co-operate. Dread is removed. The remedy triumphs. Says Charles Northrop, Woodmont, Conn.: "Had been a victim of rheumatism for years. Saw nothing but suffering for the balance of my days. Athlophoros relieved my pain almost instantly. With a few more doses I am a freer man. I feel that I can keep the enemy at bay. I do not believe in patent medicines, but this I know to be a specific and the best cure ever discovered for the terrible disease of rheumatism."

Mr. Northrop's testimony is all the stronger because he was a doubter, yet an intelligent inquirer. Athlophoros only needs a trial. It conducts its own case before court and jury. Mr. Geo. Haden, Fair Haven, Conn., writes: "Have suffered with neuralgia for years. It attacked me when least expected, and forced me to give up all work. A friend advised me to try Athlophoros. Had no faith, but after a second dose felt it all through me. In three hours I was able to resume work and have not had a return of the disease."

The Hanover Junction Smash-Up.

The Madison Journal, of Saturday, publishes the following in relation to the smash-up at Hanover Junction on Friday evening: "A railway wreck occurred at Hanover Junction early last night in consequence of which trains on the Northwestern road have been running around by Janesville and Jefferson Junction to-day. It is reported, though definite details regarding the affair are unobtainable from the local employes of the road, that two or three men were killed, and their bodies consumed in the cars, several of which are said to have caught fire and burned up. Too much credence must not be placed in this report, however, for it may be at variance with the facts in the case; but it is true that the accident was a bad one, also the line would not remain blocked for so long a period. It is understood that a frigate endeavor will be made to clear away the debris before to-night. As the accident occurred at a junction, the precaution is that two trains, running at right angles to each other endeavored to cross the track simultaneously, with the disastrous results above chronicled. At this writing, it is unknown where the blame for the calamity rests."

IN ARCADIA.

[Mr. T. W. Duke, Jr., in Century.] Because I choose to keep my seat. Nor join the giddy dances' whirl, I pray you do not laugh, my girl, Nor ask me why I find it sweet, In my old age to watch you glow, I, too, have been in Arcady.

And though full well I know I seem Quite out of place in scenes like this, You can't imagine how much bliss It gives me just to sit and dream, As your fair form goes gliding by, How I, too, dwell in Arcady.

For swiftness, in my merry eyes, A vanished summer back and blows, And with the same bright cheeks of yore I see your mother's image rise, And for a long and wearied track My banished boyhood wanders back.

And as with rear-dimmed eyes I cast On your sweet form my swimming glance I think your mother used to dance, Just as you do, in the dead past, Long years ago; yes, fifty three, When I, too, dwelt in Arcady.

And in the music's laughing notes seem to hear old voices ring, That have been hushed, oh, many a spring, And round about me faintly float The echo of a melody I used to hear in Arcady.

And your youth—may, do not blush, The joy's factor for me, I say, And hark ye, miss, I was not plain When at his age—what trust I had?—I was a wayward youth, I say, I see—You two yet dwell in Arcady.

TWO MEN OF THE WAR.

Meeting of Gen. Grant and Gen. Beauregard.

[Quoted from Chicago Herald.] It is a mistake to suppose that the two men met in the publication office of a New York magazine, for which both had agreed to write articles. They were introduced to each other by a mutual friend, and very interesting, because they were Gen. Grant and Gen. Beauregard. The visible splendor of war had departed from them with their uniforms, and their civilian coats were even glossed by wear in spots where gold lace once had shone.

Grant walked heavily with a cane, never having entirely recovered from the hurt to his hip in a last Christmas night fall on an icy sidewalk. His hair and whiskers and the silver made familiar by his portraits, but his loquaciousness was deplorable, because he was rather slovenly and fat as well. He looked more like a plain, matter-of-fact merchant than the formal general of a great world.

Beauregard, on the other hand, who could have been desired by an admirer, for it had close-cropped white hair, a mustache and imperial of the same hue, and the outlines of a military model, but he needed six inches under his belt and legs in order to inspire any sense of grandeur.

Did they fall into heated antagonism, as champions of once opposed battles? Not at all. They did not so much as discuss the struggle calmly. Their topic was Grant's rheumatism, which he said he did not expect to ever get rid of, and Beauregard's rheumatism, which he ascribed to the changeable northern climate. Grant invited Beauregard to call on him in twenty years, said Grant.

"I have always believed that my campaigning did more world of good, physically," replied Beauregard.
